

Topic 6 evaluation

This activity will help you to reflect on your understanding of key concepts from this topic. As you review the concepts listed below, consider how confident you feel about each one. By reflecting on your progress, you can identify strengths and areas for improvement, allowing you to take ownership of your learning.

If there are areas where you lack confidence, think about what specific steps you can take to improve your understanding, such as revisiting course materials or engaging in additional reading or research. Use the table provided to organise your thoughts and plan your next steps to enhance your learning.

Come back to this worksheet and fill out the final column after you've undertaken any of your action points to improve your confidence.

Concept	How confident do you feel?	Why do you feel this way?	What will you do to improve your confidence? (e.g. can you undertake further reading or practice?)	Follow-up reflection on your progress
How to access a database from middleware in Node.js
Passing data from the database to EJS templates
Passing variables to backend and inserting them into the database				